

Q: Explain why each triangle does not exhibit a distinct color when `glDrawElements` is used.

A: This happens because `glDrawElements` does NOT have overlapping vertices like `glDrawArrays` does, but rather a list of indices that link together the 10 vertices instead of 24. Because of this, the colors become interpolated between each triangle because the boundaries for them are not clearly defined like `glDrawArrays` is.